9. Evacuations

9.1

Should you require an evacuation from the ice cap, you will be liable for the full cost of this exercise (or pro-rata where more than one person is evacuated, including team evacuations). However, evacuations due to an immediate life threatening injury or illness are covered by your search and rescue/evacuation insurance.

9.2

Importantly, evacuations for reasons that are not to be of an immediate life threatening nature (such as general tiredness, minor injuries, and ice cap/sea ice conditions such as melting), are not covered by your search and rescue/evacuation, and you will be liable for the full cost of any such evacuation (or pro-rata where more than one person is evacuated, including team evacuations).

9.3

Please understand that evacuations from the ice cap are expensive and typically cost several thousand pounds or more depending on the location. In undertaking the expedition, you agree to indemnify Ice Horizons for any cost it incurs in your evacuation.

In such event, Ice Horizons will assist in your safe evacuation at your own cost, but no refunds will be payable or due and owing to the team member.

12. Cancellation due to Expedition Booking Numbers

We reserve the right to cancel any expedition prior to departure in the event that there are too few people booked on an expedition in which case you will be given a full refund of the expedition price paid by you. You will not be entitled to claim any additional amounts or seek any compensation for any injury, loss, expenses or damage (either direct or consequential) or for any loss of time or inconvenience which may result from such cancellation (including but not limited to visa and passport charges, airfares, gear purchases, airport and airline taxes).

13.1(d)

Postpone, cancel or delay (either in relation to the departure or arrival times or the duration of the expedition):

for any such aspect of the expedition if, in our absolute discretion, it is necessary to do so due to any reason whatsoever, including inclement weather, volcanic activity, wind, surface conditions such as soft snow, heavy sastrugi, sea ice melt, ice cap melt, polar bear presence, equipment failure, helicopter or other transport delay or conditions that are otherwise likely to be hazardous or dangerous or due to any other adverse or threatening conditions whether political or military or terrorist or medical or otherwise or if, in the absolute discretion of Ice Horizons, there is a likelihood of any such event occurring which may impact upon the safety of the participants, or if an act or omission of a third party prevents the expedition or the aspect of the expedition being undertaken in accordance with your booking or for any other reason considered necessary by Ice Horizons.

In the event of any change, modification, cancellation, postponement or delay under this condition, you acknowledge that you will have no right of refund of the expedition price (whether in whole or in part) and no right to claim compensation for any injury, loss or damage or other additional expenses incurred by virtue of the change, modification, cancellation, postponement or delay.

13.3

We reserve the absolute discretion to cancel any expedition due to any government travel warning or advice, or any change in such warning or advice. In this event, condition 4 applies as if you had cancelled the expedition as at the date that Ice Horizons cancelled the expedition due to the governmental travel warning or advice. Travel insurance may compensate you depending on the circumstances.

13.4

We reserve the right to change, at any time, the nominated expedition leader of the expedition. In such an event, we will try to ensure that the alternative expedition guide has expertise commensurate with that of the nominated expedition guide. Any such change by us will not give rise to any right on your part to cancel the expedition or claim any expenses, loss or damage which may be suffered.

14. Itineraries, brochures and other correspondence

Itineraries and other details are published in good faith as statements of intention only and reasonable changes in the itinerary and related items may be made where deemed necessary or advisable by us. The information contained in Ice Horizons' brochures, itineraries, and internet site is, to the best of our belief, correct at the date of publishing.

15. Insurance

15.1

Personal travel insurance and search/rescue/evacuation insurance is not included in the expedition price.

15.2

Pursuant to a requirement of the Greenland Authorities, each team member is required to have search and rescue/evacuation insurance in the form and amount specifically required by the Greenland

Authorities in relation to an ice cap crossing expedition. We can assist you in obtaining this insurance. Please note, we require this insurance to be in place by 15 January 2020.

15.3

It is a condition of booking an expedition with us, and your responsibility to ensure that you have adequate personal travel insurance for the full duration of the expedition in respect of illness, injury, death, loss of baggage and personal items and cancellation and curtailment.

15.4

You must provide evidence to Ice Horizons that you have obtained adequate personal travel insurance by 15 January 2020.

16. Marketing

The official name of the 2020 expedition will be "Ice Horizons 2020 Expedition" however team members are free to use an alternative name for personal marketing purposes, if desired. Team members are also free to enter into arrangements with sponsors and supporters and we encourage this.

17. Travel Documents

It is your responsibility to obtain proper identification or proof of citizenship as required by the authorities of Greenland and any other destination to which you are travelling. You will not be entitled to a refund if you are denied boarding or entry on any basis, including without limitation, improper documentation or failure to provide information. It is recommended that your passport is valid for six months beyond the date of your return home to your home country.

18. Airlines and other transport providers

Any material published by Ice Horizons, the Booking Form and these conditions of contract are not issued on behalf of, and do not commit any airline whose services are used or proposed to be used in the course of the expedition. In the event that an airline's proposed travel or fare schedule is amended or cancelled, such amendment or cancellation will not be considered a cancellation of the expedition by Ice Horizons. Any flights or other transport forming part of the expedition arrangements are subject to the conditions of the carrying airline or other transport entity, which in most cases limits the airlines' or other transport entity's liability to passengers in accordance with applicable international law and conventions.

19. Force Majeure

If Ice Horizons is prevented (directly or indirectly) from performing any of its obligations under this agreement by reason of act of God, strikes, trade disputes, fire, breakdowns, interruption of transport, government or political action, acts of war or terrorism, acts or omissions of a third party or for any other cause whatsoever outside Ice Horizons' reasonable control, we will be under no liability whatsoever to you and may, at its option, by written notice to you either cancel the expedition or take any other action as specified in condition 13.

20. Assumption of Risk

You acknowledge that:

20.1(a)

By the very nature of this extended ski adventure expedition on the Greenland ice cap, it is more challenging and demanding with a commensurately higher level of risk compared with conventional travel holidays and expeditions, and involves potential exposure to injury and possibly death, and that in particular improper attention to health and safety, including the failure to wear appropriate clothing, can result in cold weather injuries such as frost bite or hypothermia; and

20.1(b)

In Greenland, where this adventure travel is undertaken, standards of accommodation, transport, road and air safety, health care, hygiene, safety and service provision generally may be often not as high as those standards as in other countries and may require a greater acceptance of risk, flexibility and patience on your part; and

20.1(c)

Operational control of the expedition may at times be in the hands of a third party, such as an airline or vehicle transport, and that your right of action in regard to any shortcomings of that third party's performance is against the third party and not against Ice Horizons; and

20.1(d)

The additional dangers and risks associated with adventure travel in Greenland and on the ice cap may include but are not limited to difficult and dangerous terrain including crevasses, piteraq or other high winds, cold injuries such as frost bite and hypothermia, falls, snow blindness, exhaustion, tent fire or other tent loss, equipment failure, polar bear attack, remoteness from normal medical services and from communications in the event of illness or injury and evacuation difficulties; and

20.1(e)

The enjoyment and excitement of adventure travel is derived in part from the inherent dangers and risks associated with adventure travel and that those inherent dangers and risks are a reason why you wish to undertake the adventure expedition, and

20.1(f)

You have submitted your booking for the expedition after giving due consideration of the above and relevant travel information including, without limitation, any relevant information or advice given by the government of your home country and it is your responsibility to acquaint yourself with that information or advice; and

20.1(g)

That, for the above reasons you therefore must accept the inherent and increased dangers and risks associated with the proposed adventure expedition and the accompanying risk of injury, death or property damage or loss.

21. Disclaimer

You accept that:

21.1(a)

Ice Horizons acts as a professional expedition operator and accepts no liability for the acts or omissions of those third-party expedition operators and providers of goods and services in Greenland or elsewhere; and

21.1(b)

Ice Horizons will not be liable for any breach of any law by any person with whom you travel on the expedition; and

21.1(c)

You may not rely on any representations concerning the expedition made by Ice Horizons which are not contained in these Terms and Conditions.

22. Release and Waiver of Liability

In consideration of Ice Horizons accepting your Booking application and in consideration of you being permitted by Ice Horizons to join the expedition to the extent permitted by law:

22.1(a)

You release, waive, discharge, hold harmless and agree to indemnify Ice Horizons and its officers, employees, agents, guides and other representatives in which the expedition is conducted (each of whom are collectively referred to as "Ice Horizons and its employees") from all claims, actions or losses for bodily injury, property damage, wrongful death, loss of services, loss profits, consequential, exemplary, indirect or punitive damages or otherwise which may arise out of or occur during your travel in connection with the expedition or any activities conducted in conjunction there within to the extent permissible at law; and

22.1(b)

Regardless of the situation or circumstances giving rise to the claim you waive any claims you have, or may at any time have, against Ice Horizons and its employees and you agree, by accepting the additional inherent dangers and risks associated with the expedition, not to make any claim against or seek any compensation from Ice Horizons and its employees in respect of any personal injury, illness or death suffered by you or damage to or loss of property sustained by you as a result of your participation in the expedition.

23. Miscellaneous

A party will not be deemed to have waived any of its rights or remedies under these Terms and Conditions or at law by allowing any time or indulgence or by not exercising any right or remedy arising out of any default by the other party.

23.2

If any part of a Terms and Condition is illegal, unenforceable or invalid, it is to be treated as removed from the Terms and Conditions, however, the remainder of the Terms and Conditions are not altered.

23.3

This contract is between us and you. It cannot be sold, assigned or transferred to any other person by you without prior express written consent of us.

23.4

No oral changes, no additions, variations or waiver or any of the contract can be effected unless it is expressed in writing and signed by us.

24. Governing Law

These Terms and Conditions, the expedition, and any dispute or proceedings arising out of such, are governed by the laws of England and Wales. Ice Horizons and you submit to the exclusive jurisdiction of the Courts of England and Wales in respect of these Terms and Conditions any dispute between them.

I have carefully read, clearly understood and accepted the TERMS AND CONDITIONS stated herein and acknowledge that this agreement shall be effective and binding upon myself, my heirs, assigns, personal representative and estate.
